

Wearable Art: Innovative Designs for Clothing and Fibers

Maria de Conceicao's clothes are feminine, elegant, nostalgic, classic. One ingenious aspect of her work is her fabric construction: contemporary and antique silks, cottons, satins, velvets, laces, chiffons, and other materials, in colors as delicate and pure as the fabrics themselves, blend gracefully in her clothing compositions. Various techniques...stitchery, collage, applique, patchwork, knitting, crochet, embroidery...play sometimes exuberant, sometimes subtle roles in the finished work-of-art clothing. It is the juxtaposition of very different fabrics and techniques that enrich the surfaces and create a multitude of effects. She also demonstrates how to transform woollens into unique objects of art, how to dress-up or re-create old garments, how to design reversible clothing, and how her techniques can be applied to objects in the home and to fine art.
